

Georgianna Escamilla, RN

Director of Nursing, Meadow Creek Nursing and Rehabilitation

Located in the heart of San Angelo, Meadow Creek provides individualized short-term rehabilitation and long-term skilled nursing home care with an expert team of healthcare professionals and caregivers. A warm, homelike setting at Meadow Creek Nursing & Rehabilitation welcomes patients who need to recover after hospitalization, as well as those who require long-term care for additional support.

Georgianna started her career as a certified nurse's aide in 2004. Since then, she obtained her LVN license, went on to earn her RN license, and became the nurse of the year for Region II at THCA in 2011.

As a single mother with two kids, she graduated from Angelo State University in 2012. During her time at Meadow Creek, her greatest accomplishment was becoming the charge nurse of the first COVID unit in San Angelo. She was promoted to Assistant Director of Nursing and has now been at Meadow Creek as Director of Nursing for three years. She has been in the healthcare industry for 20 years. Georgianna is committed to patients' rights and has discovered her love for the elderly. She states even though her days are busy, they are filled with purpose.

When she is not taking care of her patients, Georgianna's number one priority is her family. Her daughter is 21-years-old and is in college pursuing a nursing degree. Her son is 16-years-old and is in the Central High School Band. She has been married for five years, and her husband attends Texas State University. She enjoys cruises and spending time with family.
